Product-Specific Risks

You are exposed to emerging markets risks
Investing in emerging markets are likely to be subject to a higher than average volatility due to a high degree of concentration, greater uncertainty because less information is available, there is less liquidity, or due to greater sensitivity to changes in market conditions (social, political and economic conditions). In addition, some emerging markets offer less security than the majority of international developed markets and certain markets are not currently considered to be regulated markets. For this reason, services for portfolio transactions, liquidation and conservation on behalf of funds invested in emerging markets may carry greater risk.

You are also exposed to operational & custody risk, risk related to investments in some countries, Small Cap, Specialised or Restricted Sectors risk, and specific risks related to investments in Mainland China, including changes in PRC taxation risk and risk related to Stock Connect.

Please refer to the Underlying Fund’s Luxembourg Prospectus, Book 1 – Appendix 3 and Page 229, for further details on the specific risks of the Sub-Fund.
