Information on the Manager

BlackRock (Luxembourg) S.A. has been appointed to act as the management company (the “Management Company”) for BlackRock Global Funds. The Management Company is a wholly owned subsidiary within the BlackRock Group and is regulated by the Luxembourg Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier (the “CSSF”). The Management Company has managed collective investment schemes or discretionary funds since 1988. Investors should note that any past performance of the Management Company is not indicative of the future performance of the Management Company.

Other Parties

The Management Company has delegated its investment management functions of the Underlying Fund to BlackRock Investment Management (UK) Limited (the “Investment Adviser”). The Investment Adviser is domiciled in England and Wales and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority and has managed collective investment schemes or discretionary funds since 1982.

The auditor of the ILP Sub-Fund is PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP.

Investment Objectives, Focus & Approach

The Underlying Fund seeks to maximise total return. The Underlying Fund invests globally at least 70% of its total assets in the equity securities of companies whose predominant economic activity is gold-mining. It may also invest in the equity securities of companies whose predominant economic activity is other precious metal or mineral and base metal or mineral mining. The Underlying Fund does not hold physical gold or metal.

The Underlying Fund may use derivatives for investment purposes and for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

Risks

In addition to the risks stated in the Product Summary, the following are risks specific to the Underlying Fund:

Currency Risks

Foreign currency exchange rate movements are likely to influence the returns to investors in Singapore, hence investors may be exposed to exchange rate risks.

Emerging Markets Risks

The Underlying Fund may invest in one or more emerging markets (including Latin America) and may be subject to a higher than average volatility than investing in more developed markets due to greater political, tax, economic, social, foreign exchange, custodial, liquidity, regulatory or other risks.

Limited Market Sectors Risks

The Underlying Fund's investments are concentrated in the gold and precious metals sector, which may include investments in commodities-linked exchange traded funds. This may subject the Underlying Fund to greater volatility and more rapid cyclical changes than more broad-based investments.

Commodities accessed via ETFs Risks

An ETF tracking a commodities index can be highly concentrated on selected commodity futures, which may subject the Underlying Fund to higher volatility.

Liquidity Risks

Trading volumes in the underlying investments of the Underlying Fund may fluctuate significantly, due to factors including market development, market sentiment or regulatory/government intervention. An inability to readily sell investments at the desired time or price may negatively impact the Underlying Fund. Redemptions may be suspended in certain circumstances detailed in the Prospectus.

Foreign Investment Restrictions Risks

Some countries prohibit or restrict investment, or the repatriation of income, capital or the proceeds from sale of securities. The Underlying Fund may incur higher costs investing in these countries. Such restrictions may delay the investment or repatriation of capital of the Underlying Fund.

Derivatives Risks

The use of derivatives may expose the Underlying Fund to a higher degree of risk. Derivative contracts can be highly volatile and a relatively small market movement may have a potentially larger impact on derivatives than on standard bonds or equities. Leveraged derivative positions can hence increase the Underlying Fund's volatility. The Underlying Fund may sustain loss as a result of the failure of a derivatives counterparty to comply with the terms of the derivatives contract.

Securities Lending Risks

The Underlying Fund may engage in securities lending. As such, the Underlying Fund will have a credit risk exposure to the counterparties to any securities lending contract. The Underlying Fund's investments can be lent to counterparties over a period of time. A default by the counterparty combined with a fall in the value of the collateral below that of the value of the securities lent may result in a reduction in the value of the Underlying Fund.

Smaller Capitalisation Companies Risks

The Underlying Fund may invest in small cap companies. Such investments may have higher than average volatility and liquidity risks.

Equity Risk

The values of equities fluctuate daily and can be influenced by many factors including issuer-specific factors and broader economic and political developments.

Soft Dollar Commissions or Arrangements

Pursuant to EU Directive 2014/65/EU on markets in financial instruments referred to as "MiFID II", BlackRock Group will no longer pay for external research via client trading commissions for its MiFID II-impacted funds ("MIFID II-impacted funds"). The BlackRock Group shall meet such research costs out of its own resources. MiFID II-impacted funds are those which have appointed a BlackRock Group MiFID firm as investment adviser or where investment management has been delegated by such firm to an overseas affiliate.

Funds which have directly appointed an overseas affiliate of the BlackRock Group within a third country (i.e. outside the European Union) to perform portfolio management are not in-scope for the purposes of MiFID II and will be subject to the local laws and market practices governing external research in the applicable jurisdiction of the relevant affiliate. This means that costs of external research may continue to be met out of the assets of such funds. A list of such funds is available on request from the Management Company.

Where investments are made in non-BlackRock Group funds, they will continue to be subject to the external manager's approach to paying for external research in each case. This approach may be different from that of the BlackRock Group and may include the collection of a research charge alongside trading commissions in accordance with applicable laws and market practice. This means that the costs of external research may continue to be met out of the assets within the Underlying fund.

Where permitted by applicable regulation (excluding, for the avoidance of doubt, any Funds which are in scope for MiFID II), certain BlackRock Group companies acting as investment adviser to the Underlying Fund may accept commissions generated when trading equities with certain brokers in certain jurisdictions. Commissions may be reallocated to purchase eligible research services. Such arrangements may benefit one Fund over another because research can be used for a broader range of clients than just those whose trading funded it. BlackRock Group has a Use of Commissions Policy designed to ensure only eligible services are purchased and excess commissions are reallocated to an eligible service provider where appropriate.

To the extent that investment advisers within the BlackRock Group are permitted to receive trading commissions or soft dollar commissions, with respect to the Underlying Fund (or portion of the Underlying Fund) for which they provide investment management and advice, they may select brokers (including, without limitation, brokers who are affiliated with the BlackRock Group or PNC Group) that furnish the BlackRock Group, directly or through third-party or correspondent relationships, with research or execution services which provide, in BlackRock Group's view, lawful and appropriate assistance to each applicable BlackRock Group company in the investment decision-making or trade execution processes and the nature of which is that their provision can reasonably be expected to benefit the Underlying Fund as a whole and may contribute to an improvement in the Underlying Funds' performance. Such research or execution services may include, without limitation and to the extent permitted by applicable law: research reports on companies, industries and securities; economic and financial information and analysis; and quantitative analytical software. Research or execution services obtained in this manner may be used in servicing not only the account from which commissions were used to pay for the services, but also other BlackRock Group client accounts. For the avoidance of doubt, such goods and services do not include travel, accommodation, entertainment, general administrative goods and services, general office equipment, computer hardware or premises, membership fees, employee salaries or direct money payments. To the extent that BlackRock uses its clients' commission dollars to obtain research or execution services, BlackRock Group companies will not have to pay for those products and services themselves. BlackRock Group companies may receive research or execution services that are bundled with the trade execution, clearing and/or settlement services provided by a particular broker-dealer. To the extent that each BlackRock Group company receives research or execution services on this basis, many of the same potential conflicts related to receipt of these services through third party arrangements exist. For example, the research effectively will be paid by client commissions that also will be used to pay for the execution, clearing and settlement services provided by the broker-dealer and will not be paid by that BlackRock Group company.

Each BlackRock Group company may endeavour, subject to best execution, to execute trades through brokers who, pursuant to such arrangements, provide research or execution services in order to ensure the continued receipt of research or execution services that BlackRock Group company believes are useful in their investment decision-making or trade execution process.

Each BlackRock Group company may pay, or be deemed to have paid, commission rates higher than it could have otherwise paid in order to obtain research or execution services if that BlackRock Group company determines in good faith that the commission paid is reasonable in relation to the value of the research or execution services provided. BlackRock Group believes that using commission dollars to obtain the research or execution services enhances its investment research and trading processes, thereby increasing the prospect for higher investment returns.

BlackRock Group may from time to time choose to alter or choose not to engage in the above described arrangements to varying degrees, without notice to BlackRock Group clients, to the extent permitted by applicable law.

Conflicts of Interest

The Management Company and other BlackRock Group companies undertake business for other clients. BlackRock Group companies, their employees and their other clients face conflicts with the interests of the Management Company and its clients. BlackRock maintains a Conflicts of Interest Policy. It is not always possible for the risk of detriment to a client's interests to be entirely mitigated such that, on every transaction when acting for clients, a risk of detriment to their interests does not remain.

The types of conflict scenario giving rise to risks which BlackRock considers it cannot with reasonable confidence mitigate are disclosed in Appendix C para 27 to 29 of the BlackRock Global Funds Luxembourg Prospectus.
