Risks

In addition to the risks stated in the Product Summary, the following are risks specific to the Underlying Fund:

In addition to the risks stated in the Product Summary, the following are risks specific to the Underlying Fund:
Investments in the Underlying Fund are subject to risks associated with investment in equities generally.

Market Risk

The value of investments may go up and down due to changing economic, political or market conditions, or due to an issuer’s individual situation.

Equity Risk

The Underlying Fund may invest in stocks and other equity securities and their derivatives which are subject to market risks that historically have resulted in greater price volatility than experienced by bonds and other fixed income securities.

Currency Risk

The assets and liabilities of the Underlying Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the Singapore dollar and the Underlying Fund may be affected favourably or unfavourably by exchange control regulations or changes in the exchange rates between the Singapore dollar and such other currencies. If the currency in which a security is denominated appreciates against the Singapore dollar, the value of the security would increase. Conversely, a decline in the exchange rate of the currency would adversely affect the value of the security. The Manager may manage the currency risks by hedging through forward currency contracts, currency futures, currency swap agreements or currency options.

Derivatives Risk

The Underlying Fund may use or invest in financial derivatives for the purpose of hedging and/or efficient portfolio management. Where such financial derivatives are financial derivatives on commodities, such transactions shall be settled in cash at all times. The Underlying Fund's use of futures, options, warrants, forwards, swaps or swap options involves increased risk. If the Underlying Fund invests in such instruments, the Underlying Fund's ability to use such instruments successfully depends on the Manager's ability to accurately predict movements in stock prices, interest rates, currency exchange rates or other economic factors and the availability of liquid markets. If the Manager's predictions are wrong, or if the derivatives do not work as anticipated, the Underlying Fund could suffer greater losses than if the Underlying Fund had not used the derivatives. If the Underlying Fund invests in over-the-counter derivatives, there is increased risk that a counterparty may fail to honour its contract. The Underlying Fund will not use derivatives transactions for speculation or leverage. If the Manager uses such instruments, it will ensure that the risk management and compliance procedures and controls adopted are adequate and have been or will be implemented and that it has the requisite expertise and experience to manage and contain such investment risks.

The Manager will ensure that the global exposure of the Underlying Fund to financial derivative instruments or embedded financial derivative instruments will not exceed 100% of the Net Asset Value of the Underlying Fund at all times. Such exposure will be calculated using the commitment approach as described in, and in accordance with the provisions of, the Code on Collective Investment Schemes. Investments in derivatives would normally be monitored and controlled by the Manager with regular mark-to-market valuations, careful research prior to investment and compliance monitoring to ensure careful compliance with the investment restrictions set out in the Trust Deed with regard to derivatives.

Soft Dollar Commissions or Arrangements

In their management of the Underlying Fund, the Managers may accept soft dollar commissions from, or enter into soft dollar arrangements with, stockbrokers who execute trades on behalf of the Underlying Fund and the soft dollars received are restricted to the following kinds of services:

- (a) research, analysis or price information, including computer or other information facilities;
- (b) performance measurement;
- (c) portfolio valuations; and
- (d) administration services.

The Managers may not receive or enter into soft dollar commissions or arrangements unless such soft dollar commissions or arrangements shall reasonably assist in their management of the Underlying Fund and the Managers shall ensure at all times that the transactions are executed at the best available terms taking into account the relevant market at the time for transactions of the kind and size concerned. The Managers shall not enter into unnecessary trades in order to qualify for such soft dollar commissions or arrangements and shall not receive goods and services such as travel, accommodation and entertainment.

The description of soft dollars and the conditions set out above also apply to the investment managers of the Underlying Funds.

Conflict of Interest

The Managers may from time to time have to deal with competing or conflicting interests between the other unit trusts which are managed by the Managers and the Underlying Fund. For example, the Managers may make a purchase or sale decision on behalf of some or all of their other unit trusts without making the same decision on behalf of the Underlying Fund, as a decision whether or not to make the same investment or sale for the Underlying Fund depends on factors such as the cash availability and portfolio balance of the Underlying Fund. However the Managers will use reasonable endeavours at all times to act fairly and in the interests of the Underlying Fund. In particular, after taking into account the availability of cash and the relevant investment guidelines of the other unit trusts managed by the Managers and the Underlying Fund, the Managers will endeavour to ensure that securities bought and sold will be allocated proportionately as far as possible among the Underlying Fund and the other unit trusts managed by the Managers.

The factors which the Managers will take into account when determining if there are any conflicts of interest as described above include the assets (including cash) of the Underlying Fund as well as the assets of the other unit trusts managed by the Managers. To the extent that another unit trust managed by the Managers intends to purchase substantially similar assets, the Managers will ensure that the assets are allocated fairly and proportionately and that the interests of all investors are treated equally between the Underlying Fund and the other unit trusts.

Associates of the Trustee may be engaged to offer financial, banking and brokerage services to the Underlying Fund. Such services, if provided, will be provided on an arm's length basis.
