Product-Specific Risks

You are exposed to Growth Stocks Risk
 Investments in growth stocks can be more volatile and may react differently to economic, political, market, and issuer-specific developments than the overall market, especially over the short term. Such stocks may also be more expensive, relative to their earnings, than the market in general.

You are exposed to Risks Associated with Small and Mid-Sized Companies
 The Underlying Fund may invest in small and mid-sized companies, which tend to have less liquidity and be more sensitive to changes in economic conditions and interest rates than larger, more recognized companies. As a result, the stock prices of small and mid-sized companies tend to fluctuate up and down more than those of larger companies.

Your investments are in a Single Market
 The Underlying Fund invests primarily in a single market, and as a result is subject to higher concentration risk and potentially greater volatility compared to funds following a more diversified policy.
