Market and Credit Risks
You are exposed to general market risk. The Underlying Fund is exposed to various general trends and tendencies in the markets, especially in the securities markets, which are partially attributable to irrational factors. The Underlying Fund may hold assets or have a share class denominated in foreign currencies other than the base currency of the Fund. market trend is generally positive.

You may be exposed to derivatives.

The derivatives may be misvalued or may have varying valuations; (ii) the use of derivatives may not completely hedge the risk intended to be hedged; (iii) derivative may become difficult to purchase or to sell. In such cases, the Underlying Fund may not be able to initiate a transaction or liquidate a position at an advantageous time or price; (iv) particularly for unlisted derivatives, there is also a risk that the counterparty may default or be unable to completely fulfil its obligations; (v) given the leverage effect embedded in derivatives, the entire value of an investor's investment in the Underlying Fund may be lost.
