KEY RISKS
WHAT ARE THE KEY RISKS OF THIS INVESTMENT?
There is no guarantee that investors will get back the invested amount given that the value of investments and its dividends are subject to market conditions and therefore may go up as well as down. These risk factors may cause you to lose some or all of your investment:	Refer to the “Risk Factors” in the Underlying Fund’s Singapore Prospectus and the “Investment and risk Considerations” of the Underlying Fund’s Luxembourg Prospectus for further information on risks of the Underlying Fund.
Market and Credit Risks
You are exposed to the market risks in European markets. The value of the investments in the Underlying Fund may go up or down due to changing economic, political, regulatory, social development or market conditions that impact the share price of the companies that the Underlying Fund invests in. You are exposed to currency risks. Assets of the Underlying Fund may be denominated in a currency other than the Base Currency of the Fund. Changes in the exchange rate between the Base Currency and the currency of the asset may cause the value of your investment and any income from it to rise or fall. You have greater exposure to market risks as this is an equity fund. Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
Liquidity Risks
The ILP Sub-Fund is not listed and you can redeem only on Business Days. There is no secondary market for the ILP Sub-Fund. All realisation requests should be submitted to Aviva Ltd. The Underlying Fund may, under the Articles of Incorporation, defer the redemptions or

suspend the determination of the net asset value of the shares of the Underlying Fund in certain circumstances. Difficulty in realising the value of investments readily may delay payment of redemption proceeds. In certain market conditions, investments held by the Underlying Fund may not be as liquid as they would be in normal circumstances. A reasonable price may be harder to attain in such conditions and there is a risk that the price at which the investment is valued may not be realisable in the event of sale. The Underlying Fund may therefore be unable to readily sell such investment.
Product-Specific Risks
You are exposed to derivatives risks. The use of financial derivative instruments ("FDI") involves certain special risks in relation to market volatility, liquidity of the FDI and the credit of the counterparty, and the value of the FDI may not necessarily correlate perfectly with the underlying investments. While some strategies involving FDI can reduce the risk of loss, they can also reduce the opportunity for gain or even result in losses to the Underlying Fund. You are exposed to over-the-counter (OTC) market risks. Investment in OTC markets is speculative and are relatively illiquid and hence is subject to high volatility. OTC investment's valuation may be difficult to obtain as reliable information of the issuers and the risks associated to the issuers' business is not publicly available. OTC derivatives have the risk of incorrectly valuing or pricing and they may not fully correlate with the underlying assets. Investment in OTC markets carries the risk that a counterparty may default on its obligations. In the event of a bankruptcy or insolvency of a counterparty, the Underlying Fund could experience delays in liquidating the position and significant losses. You are exposed to hedging risks. Any attempts to reduce certain risks may not work as intended. Any measures that the Underlying Fund takes that are designed to offset specific risks may work imperfectly, may not be feasible at times, or may fail completely. You are exposed to performance fee risks. Performance fees may encourage the Investment Manager to make riskier investment decisions than in the absence of performance-based incentive systems. The increase in net asset value which is used as a basis for the calculation of performance fees, may comprised of both realised gains and unrealised gains as at the end of the calculation period, and as a result, performance fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised by the Underlying Fund. You are exposed to securities lending risks. The Underlying Fund may lend its portfolio securities to financial institutions and expose to the risk that the borrower defaults and fails to return the borrowed securities. The loaned securities may be secured by cash collateral that may be reinvested and may incur losses or underperforms relative to other investment options. Parties in a securities lending transaction may fail to comply, either inadvertently or purposely, with either contractual covenants or laws and regulations governing securities lending activities. There are also operational issues including market or exchange problems, miscommunication between lenders and borrowers regarding the terms of transactions between them, failed reconciliations, missed record dates, incorrect tax entitlements, etc.
